Our Approach

At QPAH we partner with early-childhood services to strengthen educator confidence, support inclusion and build children's capacity for regulation, communication and participation within everyday learning environments.

Evidence-informed

Programs are grounded in current evidence and best practice.

Neurodiversity-affirming

We value differences and build on every child's strengths.

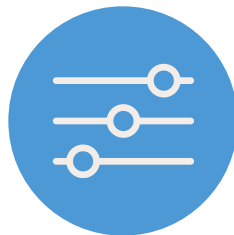

Practical & implementation-focused

Strategies are practical, achievable and embedded in real routines.

Embedded within real environments

We work alongside educators in the context of everyday practice.

Tailored to your service

Programs are flexible and designed around your goals.

Building capability for sustainable change

We build educator capability so strategies last long after we leave.

Because one-off PD doesn't change practice.

Supported implementation does.

Rhythm Ready

Regulation, participation & connection through rhythm and music

Rhythm Ready is QPAH's early childhood regulation and participation offering designed to build educator capability through evidence-informed rhythm, movement and music-based strategies.

Delivered by Registered Music Therapists (with optional multidisciplinary collaboration from our occupational therapists), Rhythm Ready supports educators to understand regulation, sensory processing, transitions, engagement and group participation within everyday routines.

Rhythm Ready supports...

Emotional regulation

Co-regulation

Group participation

Attention and engagement

Transitions and routines

Sensory processing

Social connection and belonging

Inclusive learning environments

Language LiftOff

Building communication, language & pre-literacy skills through embedded practice

Language LiftOff is QPAH's communication and language program designed to build educator capability in oral language and communication through live, evidence-based modelling with kindy-aged children.

Delivered over up to 12-weeks by experienced speech pathologists (with optional involvement from our Registered Music Therapists), educators learn alongside children during real-time group experiences.

Programs are tailored to the goals and needs of each centre.

Our Delivery Model

A cycle of learning, modelling and reflection that builds confident educators and thriving children.

We work alongside your team every step of the way.

Coaching & Mentoring

Build capability through real relationships and real environments.

In-room coaching

Our clinicians work alongside educators during everyday routines to model strategies and support implementation in the moment.

Reflective mentoring

Collaborative reflection and problem-solving sessions help embed strategies and build team confidence.

Leadership consultation

Support for educational leaders and directors to strengthen inclusion, regulation and communication across the whole service.

We build the knowledge, skills and confidence of your team
so strategies last long after we leave.
